HTEC, the EPOS, payment and loyalty solutions company has been announced as a finalist in the 'Best Use of Technology' category for the 2018 Solent Business Awards.

The category, sponsored by Taylor Made Computer Solutions, recognises new technological and innovative ideas in their broadest sense, and champions the role that technology and innovation play in creating successful businesses across the Solent.

HTEC entered this category for the development of its Gempay 3 payment terminal specifically designed to meet the demanding requirements of the fuel and convenience store markets. To date there are over 3,500 Gempay in use across the UK forecourt industry of which approximately 2000 are the latest Gempay 3 generation solution.

The Awards is organised by The Business Magazine and now in its fourth year, has quickly become established as the premier multi-category awards scheme covering the south coast and Solent region.

David Murray, publisher of The Business Magazine, said: “These awards are aimed very much at the ‘top-end’; they are prestigious trophies that attract entries from the very best companies.”

HTEC Sales Director Dave Mackay said: “We’re delighted to be announced as a finalist in this category and see the work which has been put into the Gempay model recognised. We are constantly trying to not only enhance our customers experiences but to be leading in our industry and to be a champion for the technology sector for the region.”

The black-tie gala awards night will take place on Thursday 18 October at the Hilton at the Ageas Bowl, hosted by BBC’s Sally Taylor.
